A Note from Coach Hill

Join us at the 2007 winter showcase camps! The USD coaching staff looks forward to working with you and watching you play against some of the best high school players in the western United States. The goal of the camp is to teach, develop and evaluate your skills, and we've invited coaches and scouts to assist us in this process. So let's go! Bring your "A" Game for two days in sunny San Diego and let's get after it!

An Outstanding Staff

Rich Hill has built the University of San Diego Toreros into one of the most successful Division I baseball programs on the West Coast. During Hill's nine-year tenure as head coach, the Toreros have won back-to-back West Coast Conference Championships (2002, 2003), have participated in the NCAA College World Series three of the last five years and have sent 24 players to the professional baseball ranks since 2001. The 2007 spring season will be Hill's 20th year as a head coach at the collegiate level, and he was honored as WCC Coach of the Year in 2002. Coach Hill has run sports camps over his entire career and was recently inducted into the Cal Lutheran University Hall of Fame. Hill started "Skill it Camps," LLC in 2000, and has run successful baseball camps since its inception. He and his wife Lori are very active in community sports programs with their children, Robbie, 15 and Lindsey, 12.
